DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 3 is objected to, as "said backboard" lacks antecedent basis in the claims.

Correction is required in response to this action

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1,8,13 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Culp.

Culp discloses a vertical support bracket 28, and a hitch ball coupler lever 63 inherently pivotally mounted thereto. Such a lever, as is known in the art is retained in each of its positions, one being a locked position for retaining the ball, the other being an open or at ready position. The claims fail to define over this pivotal element of Culp. Re "backboard", such fails to define any specific structure and/or arrangement so as to define over the back wall of the vertical element 18.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2,9 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Culp in view of the Fulton coupler handle.

Art Unit: 3617

Culp fails to show a coupler handle, as is old and well known in the art as evidenced by the Fulton coupler handle.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide a handle to the coupler of Culp as is known in the ball coupler art as taught by Fulton.

Such a combination would have been desirable at the time the invention was made so as to provide for ease and safety in connection.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Williams, Jr. shows a standard trailer ball coupler 43, and its two retained positions.

7. Claims 3-7, 10-12 and 17-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
